Emerging from 'Living with Beauty' and the National Model Design Code, first published in July 2021, Local Planning Authorities have been invited to write design standards more comprehensively and robustly.

Our Design team have prepared this map to illustrate the disposition of published and emerging Design Codes and Guidance across England up to August 2024.

Please get in touch if you are bringing forward proposals in these areas and would like to discuss navigating the planning and design process.

- This map only shows the status of Design Codes at English authorities reflecting the influence of the National Model Design Code
- The recorded policy documents is not exhaustive and focuses on those produced / updated after 2021. This information will continue to change and be updated.
- Documents may not include design standards on all types of development and may only cover particular types of application.
- Design standards may be adopted within Development Plan Documents, Neighbourhood Plans or Supplementary Planning Documents. This may be expressed as Design Codes or Design Guidance.
